

Resources

Here you'll find websites detailing Vermont cemetery law, general information about green burials and terms, specific examples of burial preserves, recommended books etc.

Websites:

- Digging Deep The 2017 updated synopsis of Vermont Cemetery Law.
- Green Burial Council The Green Burial Council is the North American certifying body for green burial providers, certifying cemeteries, funeral homes and green burial products.
- Top 10 Real Answers to Questions Real People Ask About Green Burial Green Burial Council's FAQs.
- The Science Behind Green and Conventional Burial In Lay Terms Referenced, illustrated, and inclusive coverage of the green burial research from Green Burial Council.
- Foxfield Preserve FAQs More answers about green burial from Foxfield Preserve, a Conservation Burial Ground in Wilmot, Ohio.
- Campbell Principles For Green And Conservation Burial The Cambells started the first conservation burial ground in the US, and provided much guidance for the Green Burial Council's standards.
- Prairie Creek Preserve Burial Policies Burial policies and fees of PCP, a conservation cemetery in Gainsville, FL.
- Eloise Woods Natural Burial Park Details of a privately owned green burial cemetery near Austin, TX
- GreenHaven Preserve Rules and Regulations Conservation information from Green Haven Preserve in Eastover, SC.
- Glossary of Green Burial Terms

Other Websites:

- Funeral Consumers Alliance The 'Consumer's Reports' of funerals, burial services and laws, with their national office in South Burlington. The Vermont Chapter's website is here.
- Green Burial Naturally A site by Ann Hoffner, with a state-by-state directory of green burial sites downloadable as a PDF. Great blog available by email or via website.

Books:

- Greening Death 2015, Suzanne Kelley. The most up-to-date, thorough, and annotated coverage of the green burial movement.

003. A book on all things green burial, European.

Updated version of Carlson's "Caring for Your Own Dead" (1987) and "Caring for the Dead" (1998). Chapters cover home funerals and green burial, and a chapter each for all fifty states with funeral law etc. for consumers.

- I Died Laughing: Funeral Education with a Light Touch 2001, Lisa Carlson. Cartoons, jokes, humorous last words, funny grave stones, and a "But Seriously, " section with good information regarding funeral issues.
- Alison's Gift: The Song of a Thousand Hearts Opening 1999, Pat Hogan. A young girl's tragic death fosters the creation of one of the first home-funeral support organizations, The Crossings Network.

Articles:

- Green burials: Create a bond to living spaces by returning your body to place 2019, Neil Allen reports on what green burials are and the benefits.
- People who love the land are getting interested in green burials, 2021, Amanda Gokee reports on how conservationists are exploring green burial.

Evergreen Cemetery - Cornwall